Pease Advocates Private Patrolman For CV Merchants

A letter suggesting a private merchant patrol in Carmel Valley Village has been sent by Niles Pease to all businessmen in Carmel Valley. The letter, according to Pease, was prompted by "acts of vandalism, petty thievery, and malicious mischief." He referred to two recent instances of burglary in stores located in the Village Shopping Center building, which he owns. Pease, a well-known Monterey pharmacist, also owns the Carmel Valley General Store, which is part of the Village Shopping Center.

"Even in downtown Monterey, with a very adequate police department, a great many of the merchants subscribe to a private merchant patrol on a monthly basis," Pease's letter pointed out.

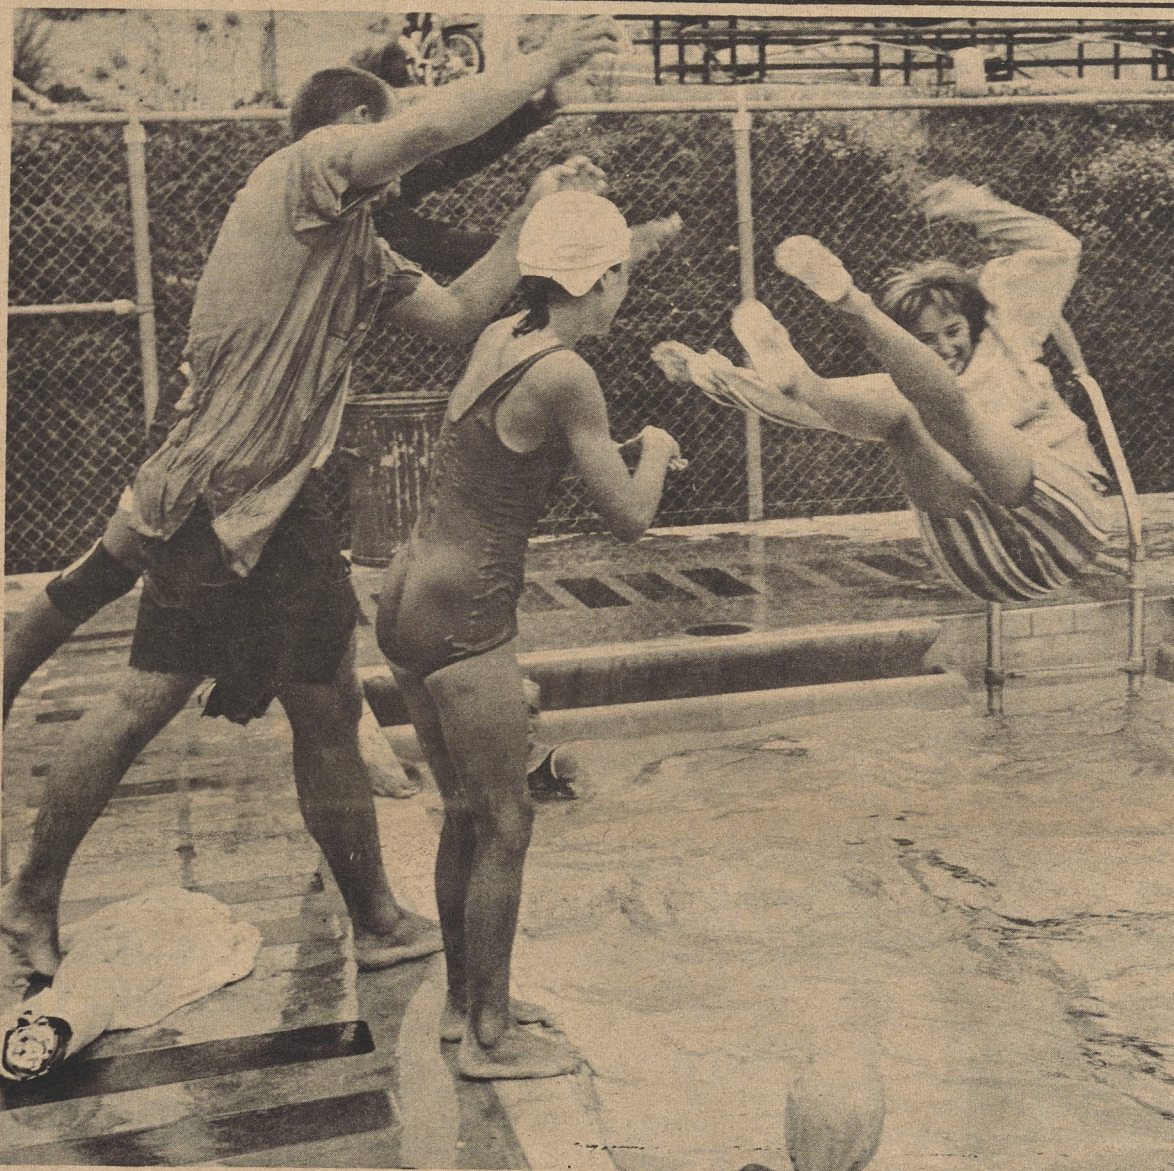

"I have talked with Sheriff Davenport and Supervisor Tom Hudson," Pease continued, "and I believe that if we were to institute this service, the Sheriff's office would equip our deputy's car with a radio, so that all calls from our subscribers could be phoned to the Sheriff's office and put on the air to our patrol car."

FIRST ANNIVERSARY FOR CV GENERAL STORE

It was exactly twelve noon on August 10 of last year, recalls Ken Van Hagen, that the Carmel Valley General Store began operation under the ownership of Niles Pease, with Mr. and Mrs. Van Hagen as new managers.

An anniversary sale is currently in progress and gifts are promised for all who call at the store, across from the Post Office, on Thursday, Friday, or Saturday of this week.

Carmel Swim Team Ends Season With Festivities

A high-spirited Carmel Swim Team polished off its current season with a beach party last Saturday evening, after the Tri-County Swimming Meet, and a pool party Sunday afternoon for the younger members. Profits from the refreshment concessions at the meet, organized and directed by Mrs. Ariel Lane, provided food and prizes, gifts for the team's directors, and a tidy balance to be handed on to next year's group.

Coach Bob Walthour, presented with a sweater and a new "lucky hat" was warm in his praise of

Road Planning Fund Almost Over The Top

As of early this week, $935 had been mailed to the road fund which has $1000 as its goal, the Carmel Valley Property Owners and Mid-Carmel Valley Property Owners Associations announced. John Sigourney and Larry Horan, presidents of the respective groups, jointly responsible for the fund, expressed pleasure at the prompt and wholehearted response from Valley residents, which has carried the campaign 9/10ths of the way toward its goal without any concerted prodding or pleading. A form letter sent to all Valley residents was the only solicitation. It is hoped that a few more residents who have "been meaning to" send in their donations (to Road Fund, Box 157, Carmel Valley) will do so now!

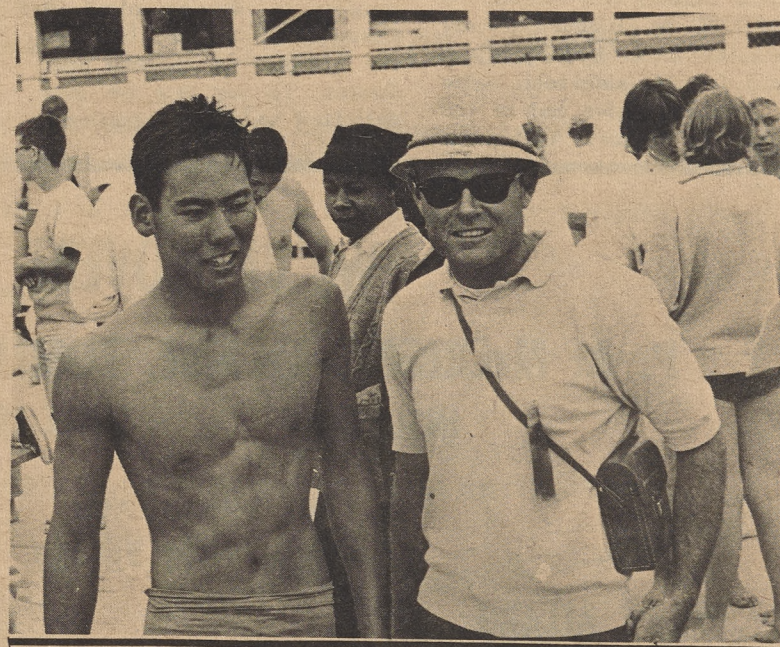

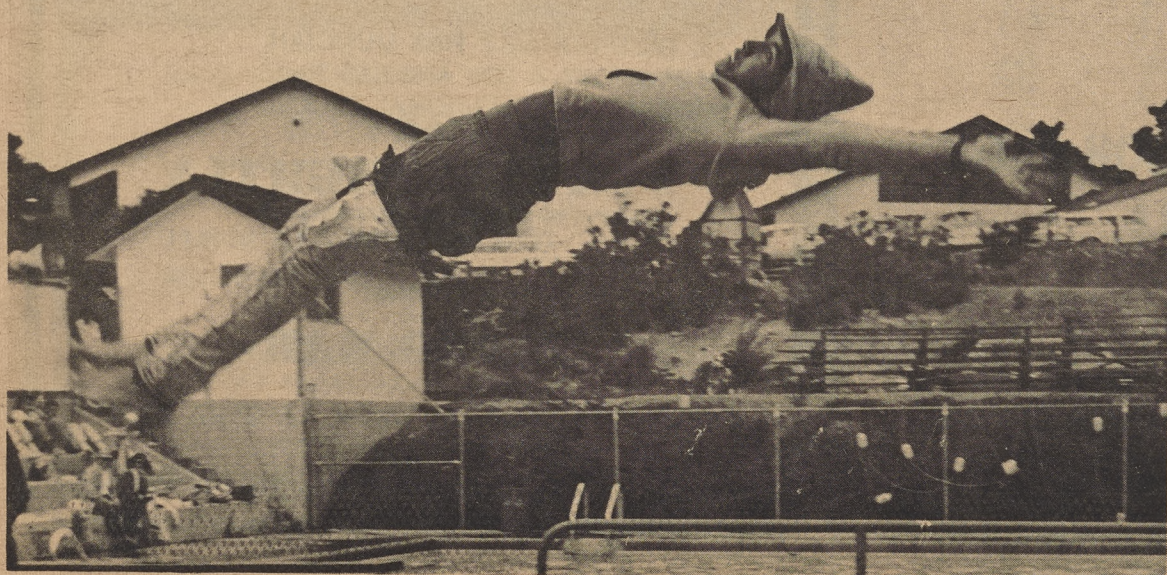

James Campbell, independent planning consultant now engaged in formulating plans for a scenic 4-lane Carmel Valley Rd., visited the Valley last week and

San Simeon Highway

In a recent issue we reported an origin-destination traffic count conducted on Carmel Valley Road by the State Highway Department, which conducted another simultaneously on Highway One south of Carmel. A spokesman for the department told us that there was "some talk" of a Monterey-San Simeon Highway, but wasn't sure where the idea had originated.

The mystery is now solved. Senator Farr's regular newsletter, which was in the mail this week, reports some 35 bills which he introduced in the 1963 legislative session which were enacted into law. (Approximately one dozen of these of local interest had been reported to us by Sen. Farr and printed herein several weeks ago.)

Well, Senate Concurrent Resolution 23 was one of those now having received the signature of the governor and filed with the secretary of state. It instructs the Department of Public Works "to study new alternate route from Monterey to the San Simeon area."

Out of town, Senator Farr was due back shortly after our deadline time--but we'll try to have further word for obviously interested Carmel Valleyites next week.

Since it is now definitely decided that the coast route between Carmel and San Simeon will NOT be expanded to carry the bulk of tourist traffic, present plans for the main route come to an inconclusive halt at the mouth of Carmel Valley. It must reach San Simeon via some inland alternate route. There are lots of guesses but no answers yet!

Consultant's Work Pleases

On a recent Sunday drive toward Salinas, Ye Ed. and Ye Pub. decided to take a few minutes out for a detour through Laguna Seca Estates, a new subdivision off the Salinas Highway which we had not previously inspected. We were both struck by what seemed to us very intelligent and sensitive planning. There was something about the way in which the roads wound in and out of the hills which made the entire aspect of the subdivision most pleasing. There were also a number of small touches--little benches set pleasantly here and there, street lights of a design which seemed especially appropriate to the dry, western terrain--which set the development head and shoulders above far too many we've seen, despite the sparseness of vegetation relative to that of our greener Valley.

We drove away from the tract saying, "Wonder who planned that? Whoever it was certainly did a superior job!"

Inadvertently, while speaking with John Sigourney of the CVPOA early this week, we found out. John mentioned that James Campbell, the consultant retained to develop plans for Carmel Valley Rd., had been the planner for Laguna Seca Estates. To say that we were delighted to hear it is putting it mildly!

New Appointment Procedures For Advisory Committees to Planning Commission

New appointment procedures are evidently in store for the Upper and Lower Carmel Valley Advisory Committees to the Monterey Planning Commission. At its July 30 meeting, plancom decided to honor a request from the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association (in a letter from its board of directors, dated July 26) to defer further appointments to either committee until a new plan for filling vacancies can be evolved.

John Sigourney, president of CVPOA, expressed gratification at the Planning Commission action, despite some open criticism he said he had received from several oldtime residents.

"The main argument for the present system seems to be that it is so difficult to find good people willing to serve, that when these are found they should be allowed to serve as long as they wish," Sigourney said. "In the past it was considered a privilege to serve, and it still should be."

Sigourney pointed out that new subdivisions are springing up in several parts of the Valley. For example, he said, when he attended a meeting of the newly formed Carmel Knolls Property Owners Association last week, he was astounded at the number of homes already built and occupied there (about 50.) He feels some systematic means should be arranged whereby developing areas such as this can have representation on the advisory committees.

In the past, members of the advisory committees have simply filled their own vacancies each year, and both membership in and leadership of the groups has tended to remain in the same hands.

When the question was first raised by Sigourney at a CVPOA board meeting (see the Outlook, July 4 issue), present chairmen of the two committees were queried for reactions. At that time Leonard Williams, chairman of the Lower Valley Advisory Committee, said he had "no strong feelings about it one way or the other." Bob Slimmons of the planning commission staff stated that "to the best of his recollection" Williams had been chairman of the group "most of the time since its inception" in 1948.

John K. Caldwell, secretary of the Upper Valley Advisory Committee since 1957, said, however, that he "could see no advantage to the public in changing members unless someone has been defective in his job or somebody better can be found.... Someone who knows the history of local land development and will take the trouble to learn the zoning ordinances," he specified.

Caldwell customarily substitutes for David Hoisington, chairman of the Upper Valley Advisory Committee, while the latter is absent from the Valley during the summer months. Slimmon could not recall how long Hoisington had been chairman, explaining that county records prior to 1954 were "not the best" and that much clerical time would be needed to unearth such information from minutes of numerous meetings.

New Marina Church Plans Benefit At CV Inn

The ladies of Fr. Jeremiah G. O'Sullivan's new Catholic church in Marina are planning a benefit fashion show and tea at Carmel Valley Inn on September 17. The donation is $1.75 and there will be door prizes. Commentator and fashion co-ordinator will be Mrs. Ellen Waters of Bergs, Carmel Valley.

NEW RESIDENTS

New Valley residents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Reams, formerly of Monterey, who are leasing the former Bernard Jones home. Mr. Reams, an investor, plans to operate a national mail order book business.

The couple say they moved to the Valley to "get away from the fog." They have an 18-month old son, Jimmie.

Young People's Forum Set for Monday

Carmel Valley youth will have its say next Monday evening, Aug. 19, at 8:00 in the multipurpose room of Tularcitos School. A panel composed of Juanita Flammini, Carolyn Wolter, Susan Saulsbury, Dick Crispo, Bob Todd, Jr., and Peter Carneau will be on hand to answer questions.

Mark Starr, moderator of the panel, explains that during the first half of the evening the adult committee sponsoring the series of forums will direct questions to the young people, who will answer. Members of the adult committee, besides Starr, are Lou Gardner, Lou Allaire, Mrs. Vivian Stuart, Lloyd Swanson and Rev. James Brock. (The latter will not be present as he will still be vacationing with his family.)

During the second half of the evening, Starr said, members of the audience will be invited to direct questions to the young people. It was decided to obtain the multipurpose room for the panel because of the large size of the crowd at the last youth study session.

BY BOB STUART

Photographs, taken during a 13 month stay in Antarctica, were shown to Carmel Valley Kiwanis Tuesday by Verne Peckham, husband of the former Sandra Gardner of Carmel Valley.

Peckham, who was introduced by his father-in-law, Lou Gardner, was at McMurdo Sound, the main base for the United States Antarctic effort, from Sep-

Recently Carmelo 4-H held a Dress Review and Mothers' Tea at Tularcitos School. Two visiting clubs participated besides our own. They were Spring and Spreckels 4-H Clubs, both from Salinas.

Nancy Meadows, Lea Ann Dahle, Janet Powers and Hazel Jacoby were Carmelo's ribbon winners.

We wish to thank all the mothers and leaders who loaned us items for the tea.

The tea table and individual tables were set with a flower theme. The flowers were a variety of begonias, donated by Carmel Valley Begonia Gardens, where they can now be seen in full bloom.

For the tea we had coffee, tea, punch, petits fours, and mints. The petits fours were made by the advanced cooking class of 4-H.

OBSERVERS AGREE 'JUVENILE FIGHT' WASN'T MUCH

The "Juvenile Fight Reported in Carmel Valley" by the daily press early this week wasn't much of a fight at all, both youthful and adult observers agreed.

But it very well could have been a nasty one, the adult said.

Said one youth who had been present, "Nothing really happened. No one was really hurt. The newspaper played it up just because it happened in Carmel Valley. Right next to it was an article about boys breaking 116 panes of glass at Seaside High School, and they gave us just as much space as the other story!"

"It was just a nervous kind of day," the youthful spokesman explained. "We were all hanging around feeling kind of nervous, nothing to do." He said the fact that the Carmel Valley Youth Center had been closed for the summer had a lot to do with their feeling of being at loose ends.

The adult, who was also present at the fight, said, "There weren't half a dozen real punches thrown during the whole melee -- but it lasted quite a while, and I think it was good that the deputies broke it up.

"One boy would swing in the direction of another, and then that one would back up about five feet -- it went on like that. One would dare another to go ahead and hit him if he had the nerve. It was a lot of talk and no action. But two things bothered me.

"Here in the Village we know very well who the good kids are and who are the ones getting off on the wrong path. The kids who stuck around and kept yakking were the bad apples. The well-behaved kids would come over to see what was the matter, or drive by, but they would leave. Having all the known misbehavers hanging around all at once like that was what made the adults uneasy. The other thing that bothered me was that there were young girls around watching, thinking it was great. Not a healthy situation."

The adult observer agreed with the young one that, "They certainly seem to like to give more publicity to Carmel Valley than any place else!"

CORN ROAST COMING UP!

"When the Valley corn is sweet and ripe, let's have an old-fashioned corn roast!" This idea came from our building chairman, Calvin Keator. Next Sunday afternoon, Aug. 18, the Carmel Valley Gem & Mineral Society will hold its first annual corn roast and gigantic rock swap at the Wagon Wheel Picnic grounds. This is three miles up the Valley road from the Village on the Jamesburg turnoff. Starting at 2 p. m. Palmer Olson and Jack Gunter will have games and entertainment for the whole family. Charlie Underwood and Les Krumbholz will be running a GIGANTIC ROCK SWAP. Ruth Getz will be in charge of the potluck dishes and at 5:30 p. m. Calvin Keator will serve the first corn roasted to perfection. This could be the start of enjoyment for years to come.

PEBBLE PUP FIELD TRIP

Yankee Point Beach and cove was the site of a picnic and get-together for 13 Pebble Pups and 11 adults on Sunday Aug. 4. Sifting sand for sea shells and little bits of clear or translucent gem stones was an interesting, lazy way to spend the afternoon. On the way back to the Valley and sunshine the group stopped off at the Farm Center to play in the river and pan for garnets. It's a tossup as to who enjoys the Pebble Pup trips more; the children or their parents.

OUR SHOW IN OCTOBER

Dr. Wm. Malcolm Bauer, show chairman, has returned from a months visit in Florida and is "ready to go" on this year's show. He has all his chairmen and committees organized and working. Excitement is high and the "best show yet" is in the making for October 12 and 13, the dates set for the Carmel Valley annual Gem and Mineral show.

Deer Fodder

BY CHUCK KLINE
MANAGER,

VALLEY HILLS NURSERY

About this time of year many people are seeking plants that will give their summer garden color.

On the shady side of the house, how about such plants as Fuchsias, Tuberose Begonias, Hydrangeas, Bedding Begonias, Lobelia, Blue Sage (Salvia Patens), and Impatiens?

For half or full sun we find such things as the Red Hot Poker (now more often seen in its hybrid forms as yellow or yellow with orange shadings), the Blue or White Lily of the Nile (a native to the Cape of Good Hope region of Africa,) Bougainvillea for the protected warm spot (a native of Brazil), the ever-useful and popular Geranium from South Africa, and the Burmese Honeysuckle with 5-6 inch blossoms exuding a wonderful fragrance.

What about bedding plants for the sun? Asters planted now will give late summer color, Bachelor Buttons provide a bright blue lift for the summer garden. Shasta Daisies are good both for color and for cutting. All of the Marguerites--white, pink, and yellow--are almost everblooming, while their cousins, the Dimorphothecas, are now available in purple and a rich yellow-gold called "Buttersweet." Marigolds set out now will bloom long into the fall as will Zinnias. Petunias, my perennial favorite for loads of color, come in too many shapes and sizes to mention individually; however, a new one, Yellow Dandy, is a light lemon shade. This blends well with whites and purples, and is especially effective when planted against a dark wall. I need scarcely to mention Stocks and Snaps, Violas and Pansies (the latter two for part shade in Carmel Valley).

There are many ways of adding interest to your garden when it looks tired. If you are unable to do much planting or gardening, often a single pot of Geraniums or Petunias set in an advantageous spot will be enough to cheer up a tired looking corner. Try a large planter overflowing with Petunias to dress up your patio.

Even if our lives can't be as spicy as those of the English, we can at least try some of their tricks in our gardens!

Dental patients who go to the offices of Dr. Ed Marcucci these days are greeted by the always-beautiful smile of none other than Mrs. Joe (Marge) Carter, Dr. Ed's new receptionist.

MEANEST THIEVES STEAL BIKES FROM CHILDREN'S HOUSE

The position of "meanest thief in the world" has been filled for 1963--or maybe it's "thieves".
Two bicycles have now been stolen from Children's House-- the first on June 6, and another on August 7, reports Director
Ruth Ford. Some new adobe blocks to be used in construction of the classroom building were also stolen.

The bicycles were donated to Children's House for the use of the retarded and disturbed children who reside there.

neglected to open the damper.
Damage was limited to smoke.

School Board OK's Food Machines at Carmel High

BY BONNIE HOLBROOK

Food-vending machines will be installed in the cafeteria of Carmel High School for the opening of the fall semester, Medill Bair, superintendent of Carmel Unified School District, announced at the Board of Education meeting last week. Foods available from the machines --and their costs--would be substantially the same as those at the Junior High School last year, he said.

The decision was made to try the machines because the cost of personnel for staggered lunch periods would otherwise cause cafeteria costs to rise, he said. A release clause in the contract with Allied Food Vendors will allow the school system to break the contract within a 30-day period if the machines do not work out "satisfactorily".

Bair told the Outlook that he had heard some parents were not satisfied with the types of food available last year, but that any opinion he might offer now would be "a little silly" since he has just started work for the school system and has yet to see the machines in operation in the schools. "It will be interesting to see how it works out," he said, indicating that he was open to ideas and suggestions as the project got underway and progressed.

BUDGET APPROVAL

Members of the Board unanimously approved the published budget for the school year 1963-64 in the amount of $2,063,348. Teachers' salaries account for $1,007,932 of the total sum.

JUNIOR HIGH SPRINKLERS

Work was started this week on the well-water irrigation and sprinklers system at Carmel Junior high School. The low bid for the job ($22,440) was submitted by the firm of Hudelson and Myers. They expect to have the project completed before the opening of school, September 10.

NEW COURSE FOR ADULT SCHOOL

The Board also approved the addition of a course of study for silk screen printing for the Adult Education School. It will include design, printing skills, basic color knowledge and a thorough study of printing papers. Upon completion, the student should be able to produce Christmas cards, posters, etc.

Vandals Damage Private Plane

An airplane owned by Louis Pavesi, a year-round resident of Los Laureles Lodge, was found damaged--evidently by vandalism--Wednesday at the Carmel Valley airstrip.

Pavesi, who works in the air tower at Monterey Airport, estimates that it will take about $200 to restore dents in the plane, which is an older model covered with carefully fitted Irish linen and a thin coating of chemicals.

"It must have been kids," Pavesi opined, "or if it's an adult, he's crazy!" Evidence suggested that rocks had been thrown against the plane, hard enough to shatter.

Many families live close by the airstrip, Pavesi pointed out, adding, "I sure hope the parents around there will take notice of what's going on!"

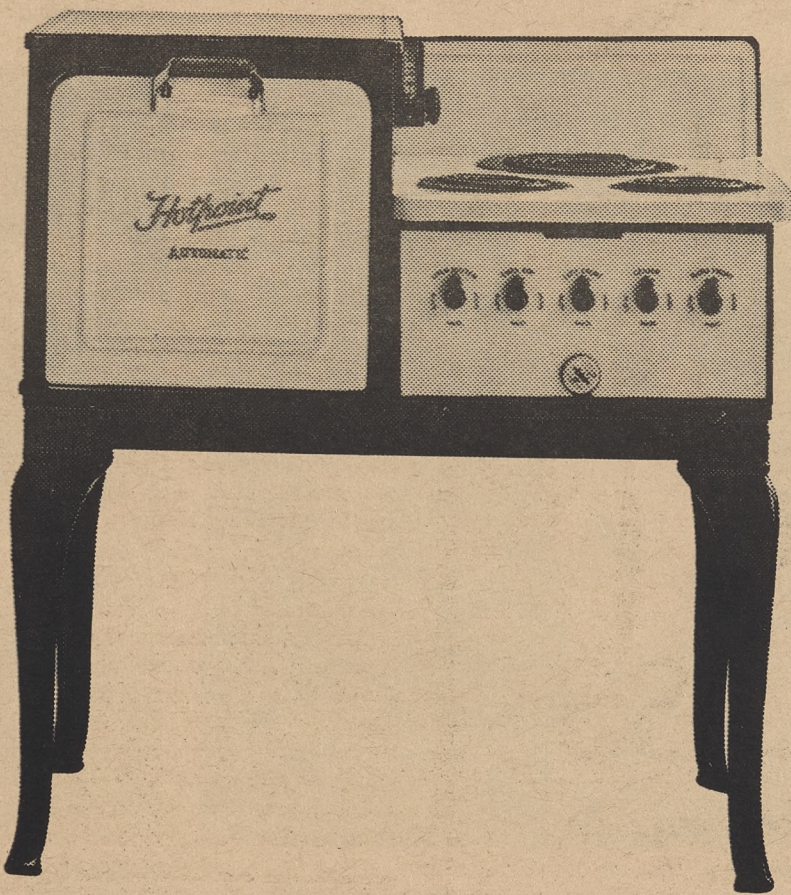

Barbara (Mrs. Dean) Litts of Rancho Rio Vista was in the Rocky Mountains recently attending the 30th Writers' Conference at the University of Colorado.

Leaving Valley

C. A. Sloane of 78 Hitchcock Cn. Rd. is moving to Santa Barbara after 3 1/2 years' residence in Carmel Valley. Sloane, an artist, says that he will miss the scenery of the Monterey Peninsula, which he finds unparalleled as a subject for painting, but he seeks a warmer climate. He says he will also miss the instruction of Carmel artist Clarence Bates, whose sketch class, part of the Carmel school district's adult education program, has been much in evidence in the Valley in recent weeks. "None better," says artist Sloane of Bates as a teacher.

Purchaser of Mr. Sloane's home is Mrs. Hal Janic who formerly resided on Schulte Rd. in the lower part of the Valley.

BACKFENCE CONFERENCE

at 9:45 a. m. with neighbor and fellow student-vacationer Debbie Smith. (Right,) in "cut-offs"--typical teen uniform of this area--Tina walks to the library. She couldn't remember the names of the books she was returning.

TINA EARNS HER RIDING FUN

In exchange for riding privileges, Tina's job includes grooming horses, leading trail rides, even cleaning corrals. Here she practices jumping.

LOGICAL FOLLY

After a dusty ride like many Carmel Valley youngsters, Tina practices her jumping privileges and instructs others.

AT CARMEL YOUTH CENTER

3:30 p. m. --lucky Carmel teenagers have their own Youth Center building with games, companions, snacks, etc. perennially available. Valley youngsters, by contrast, meet only at specified times at the CV Community Center, which is used for many worthy groups.

TWILIGHT SOFTBALL

With Mory Jones, Tina watches the early evening softball games at Sunset School.

JITTERBUG

WHAT'S THERE TO DO?

10:15 a. m. --Pam Baldwin (to right of librarian) joins Tina for further adventures. Together, girls drop by the former Hilbert's Creamery, closed for remodeling. They exchange horseplay with Engborg Halle, son of the proprietor, who was helping with remodeling chores. Long the unofficial hangout for Carmel teens, the ice-cream shop has now re-opened with new name and decor.

SNACK-TIME

Bound for Pebble Beach riding stables, girls stop by mobile snack concession at 8th green. Carmel Youth Center members maintain "Bingmobile" for fund-raising, obtained it through Crosby Foundation funds.

LOGICAL FOLLOW-UP--

After a dusty ride, what makes more sense than a cool pool? Tina will enter Carmel High School next fall as a sophomore, but like many Carmel youngsters of all ages, has already become an expert swimmer and diver through high school summer swimming privileges and instruction over a period of years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Lansing Stanford of Carmel, formerly of Carmel Valley. Her father is a salesman for a wholesale sporting goods company.

WISHFUL WAITING

Even though the creamery is temporarily out of commission, it's still the place to gather, it seems! The girls "check in" once more to see who's there and what's doing.

What Do You See in These Pictures ?

How this picture-story is interpreted depends, apparently, upon who beholds it. George T. C. Smith, the well-known local photographer who frequently takes pictures for the Outlook, suggested the assignment.

"Just let me follow one high school kid around for one whole day," said George. "It will be a perfect illustration of the fact that there is nothing around here for kids to do."

The first person who looked at the finished layout (the father of daughters) described the activities as "an exercise in futility."

The second person to look at it exclaimed, "What lucky, lucky young people! What an idyllic summer day!"

Fascinated, we began showing the pictures and asking for reactions from still others.

"Rather snobby if you ask me," said the third beholder. "If you run it, it will just make people envious. Not everybody can afford the Pebble Beach riding stables and swimming pools." This remark came from a mother whose own children swim regularly in the high school pool -- which is the one pictured here. And, as is all too common nowadays, this mother looked at the pictures and ignored the printing. A little reading would have told her that the young lady featured on these pages has a job by which she earns her horseback riding privileges.

How about the girl herself? How does she feel about how she is spending her summer?

"There's not enough for kids to do in Carmel," she told us. "The same things, the same places, day after day. When we want to do anything really exciting, we have to go to Monterey." What did she feel was lacking in Carmel? "They made a big mistake, I think, when they took down the old movie theater. And I wish we had a bowling alley."

Our conclusion? Chiefly that opinions about the younger generation's activities and needs differ as widely as opinions on any important subject.

In this context, then, we offer a few ideas of our own, for what they are worth:

Even as a growing plant may suffer from too much or too little sunshine or water, so a growing youngster may suffer from too much or too little attention, privileges, discipline, or almost anything else you can name. So when we hear people say, "Children today need more----," we are always tempted to ask, "Which child are you talking about?" Johnny may need more supervision or whatever, but Billy may already be getting too much!

Having made this point, we shall proceed to meaningless generalities:

The natural resources of the Monterey Peninsula, plus the recreation facilities of school and the swimmers: "The team has gone in three years from 26 to 67 members, and their spirit and morale is growing by leaps and bounds. Their parents are entering in wonderfully too." He pointed out that of 67 Carmel entries in the preliminary Tri-County trials, 55 qualified for the finals, the highest percentage among the seven teams in the meet. "Even to come in fifth in a race," he said, "means that youngster is the fifth best swimmer in that event in seven cities, and that's quite an achievement." Approximately half of the team members are youngsters from the Valley.

Head lifeguard Doyle Clayton received a sport shirt from the team; Mary Martin, coach of the B team was given a straw hat and a bouquet, and Phil Yardley, custodian of the pool, was presented a blue ribbon and a box of cigars. In addition, an album of several hundred pictures was given to the team by photographer George T.C. Smith, and placed in the custody of Coach Walthour.

The Sunday party also included clown diving in costume by some of the older boys, and races and prizes for the little ones; final big moment was the cutting of a cake big enough for 70, decorated with a picture of the pool and congratulations to the team. Following an old swim team custom, coach, life guards, custodian, and various other unwary spectators were tossed bodily into the water.

Mrs. Lane wished to thank all the parents who helped with the food concessions—"it was an exhausting three days," she said, "but well worth it." She too was impressed with the high degree of warmth and cooperativeness among swimmers, coaches, and families alike.

Pam Turner Sets Record At Tri-County Swim Meet

BY PEGGY NEWTON

The Monterey Marlins upset favored Santa Cruz 316-315 Saturday in Carmel to win the 1963 Tri-County Championship. Carmel finished fourth with 239 points, while Gilroy won third place with 262 1/2 points. Salinas was fifth with 179 points, Watsonville sixth with 94 1/2, and Cabrillo brought up the rear with 13 points.

The lone individual Tri-County record from Carmel went to Pam Turner who finished first in the 13-14 girls' 50-yd. breast stroke with a record-shattering :38.3.

Pam later joined team-mates Tereza DeArman, Marilyn Lane, and Tina Miller to set a Tri-County low of 1:57.3 in the 200-yd. relay for 13-14 girls.

Outstanding Carmel performances were turned in by Pam Turner, AlNishimura, Nardo Olson, Tina Miller, Jody Oenning, Jerri Harrison, Connie Wermuth, Ann Hirschi, Lee Lowrie, Nancy Coss, Annette Low, Marsha Lane, Marilyn Lane, Tereza DeArman, and Judy Isenberger.

DIVING

Carmel divers Nancy Coss and Pat McGibney won two of the four diving titles Friday. Nancy swept the girls' 12-under division with 242.70 points, while Pat won the boys' 13-17 championship with 292.20 points.

Other diving finalists from Carmel were Kathy Bingham, Connie Wermuth, Patty Oenning and Jeri Kinion.

Special thanks for the well-run Tri-County meet go to Comdr. and Mrs. Ariel Lane, Mrs. Richard Whitesides, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walthour, Col. and Mrs. Bert Nishimura, Mr. and Mrs. De Arman, Barry Kearns, Norm Boudreau and Phil Yardley.

YOUNG GIL GRAHAM LOST AND FOUND

Six-year old Gil Graham, son of Mrs. Jean Graham of Los Arboles Rd. had a mighty worried mother and a lot of people out looking for him last Tuesday. He took the bus for the first time to swim at the high school pool, but wasn't on the return bus as per instructions. When investigation proved he had not been left at school ("Mr. and Mrs. Dawson were simply marvelous about it," said Jean, reporting how worried she had been), the sheriff was notified and--as time passed--the Carmel police, in case the young man had gone wandering.

What had happened was simply that the return bus driver had not realized there was any child to be dropped off at Carmelo and had simply driven non-stop to Tularcitos, where young Gil obediently alighted and began the 8-mile walk toward home. Meanwhile, his mother, chauffeured by helpful neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Weilenmann, was searching Carmel Valley Rd. between Carmelo School and Highway One!

Walking home, Gil got hot and dusty. When he got about as far west as River Ranch he decided to take another swim--in the river this time. Hence he was not spotted until about 2:00 when the same bus driver, on his afternoon run back to Carmel, saw the missing lad back on the road.

All's well--and Jean would like to give hearty thanks to the school personnel, many helpful neighbors, and law enforcement officers.

FIRE ON SADDLE MOUNTAIN

A little less than two acres at the top of Saddle Mountain were burned Wednesday afternoon, at some distance from the recreation facilities located at the center of 100-acre Saddle Mountain Ranch. The Carmel Hill Station of the California Division of Forestry, which is the fire station for the Lower Valley, answered the alarm. Air tankers made six drops of borate, which brought the fire under control to the point where ground crews walked in to put it out.

Editorial (cont'd):

community, offer ample diversion for our children (we are not talking about teen-agers, most of whom, whether we like it or not, are really young adults.)

In our own mid-Valley neighborhood, for example, the youngsters appear to be having a marvelous summer. At first they siezed on the annual delights of the river--making rafts, picnicking on "islands," fishing, etc. When the waters and the novelty receded, they turned to baseball in a vacant lot (parents donated a tractor for leveling, plus lumber with which the youngsters themselves energetically built a backstop.) Treehouses have been built, old washing machine motors attached to bicycles, even more complex mechanical projects effected. Little girls have "dressed up" and paraded the streets in time-honored fashion. Some have sold bunches of flowers, fruit, or vegetables from home gardens. (There has been almost no mischief noted in the neighborhood, and we can only hope that the temptations of a 7-acre shopping center to be built--within the year--here at Berwick Manor will not change the situation too greatly.)

Unfortunately, the natural joys of childhood are not enough to satisfy teenagers. With physical maturity, needs grow far more complex.

In Carmel, the teen-agers have many more organized diversions than they do in the Valley. Carmel youth has its own building constantly available, to be endlessly equipped and decorated--its upkeep presenting some responsibility, providing useful training and absorbing much time. In addition, there are a multitude of activities centered about the high school and its pool.

Carmel facilities are a long way from Carmel Valley Village. And the Carmel Valley Community Center building, while a tremendous achievement for the number of people here at the time of its construction, cannot really satisfy teen-age needs. Because the Center is used by many groups, it was available to Valley teen-agers only once a week even before the recent cessation of Youth Group activities. It has no place for storage of games or equipment for any one group. They can do nothing to the building to gain the feeling of a "place of their own."

Most teen-agers seem to long for such a place, and we think adults should accept this as a healthy sign in an age group which in a few years will assume full burdens of home, business, and community life. We would like to see our Valley teen-agers have their own building--along with an appreciable portion of responsibility for its economic and physical maintenance, as in Carmel. We understand that the Valley's new youth study committee will soon invite representatives of Carmel Youth Center to speak here on its method of operation. We're all for it!

But--although a constructive step--obtaining a more satisfactory youth facility here would hardly solve all local youth problems! It is indicative that the young Carmelite in our picture story, despite the superior facilities available to her, opines, "We need another movie house, and a bowling alley." It is only human to want something more, and many an adult nowadays assumes that some sought-after possession or privilege will magically bring permanent euphoria. A long-range cure for ennui is never one more kind of amusement, or even two!

We think our teen-agers generally need more chance to work into adult life by doing more useful things for the adult community of which they will soon be a part. Many of our youngsters come by such experience naturally, through helping substantially in their families' homes or businesses, or by holding jobs outside. Others seek and gain responsible experiences through volunteer work. (The Junior Red Cross volunteers who help train the less fortunate youngsters at Children's House are among the most glowingly happy teen-agers we have seen this summer.)

Not all families can easily provide such opportunities for responsibility--or will recognize the importance of guiding their teen-agers into them. It is useless merely to say smugly that they "should." There are a few youngsters in our community with, for one reason or another, "nothing to do"--and these few cause a disproportionate amount of trouble and concern.

We have heard several good ideas put forth of late for community projects to engage the energies of more of our teen-agers. We will describe these projects in future issues. Oh yes, they would cost money! But so will the quarry tile floor in the $80,000 kitchen of Monterey County's Juvenile Hall--and that is being installed!

Carmelites Congratulate 'The Breakers'

BY MARJORY LLOYD

Late afternoon sunshine sparkling on the broad expanse of Monterey Bay outside the picture windows of The Breakers Restaurant on Cannery Row delighted guests invited by the owners, Betty Parker and Mary Jane Lee, to a cocktail party on Tuesday evening.

A number of Carmelites joined representatives of civic, business, and service organizations of all Peninsula communities. Music played by the new supper club's orchestra added to the gaiety of the occasion. Each guest was invited to select a carnation from a basket of multicolored blooms proffered at the door.

The Breakers occupies a remodeled cannery across the patio from the Steinbeck theatre, and is in the center of all the activities of the street originally made famous by the Nobel prize-winning novelist. But from the wide windows looking seaward, diners view the ocean even as "Doc" did from his laboratory a few yards away.

The owners of Cannery Row's newest restaurant are members of a family which has for years operated a motel in Pacific Grove.

Carmel Tax Rise

Carmel City Council this week set the 1963-4 tax rate at 94 1/2¢ per $100 assessed valuation. This is a rise of 10 1/2¢ over last year. Mayor Eben Whittlesey said the new rate provided a "realistic budget which faces problems of rising expenses and necessities of the city with a fair balance of the two, plus a more realistic approach to tax revenue."

Art Lecture Tuesday — Weygers at Circle

The artist's approach to sculpture, wood engraving and photography will be the subject of a lecture and demonstration at the Circle Theatre in Carmel on August 20 and 27.

Alex Weygers, Carmel Valley artist, will present the latest in his series of art lectures, using slides and demonstration to illustrate the inter-relation of forms in nature with the realization of these forms in artistic media.

The series, presented twice each night, at 7 p.m. and at 8:30 p.m., is a logical progression and outgrowth of past lectures concerned with what Weygers calls "Artography" and which have been well received on the Monterey Peninsula and elsewhere. Tickets are available at the Browse Around in Carmel or may be ordered by calling OL 9-2074.

STILL BEAUTIFUL

Dismayed by the changes population growth has caused in California since they visited the state 30 years ago, Dr. and Mrs. Everett C. Hughes of Cambridge, Massachusetts, were happy to find Carmel "as beautiful as ever, although much larger" when they arrived here.

Dr. Hughes, president of the American Sociological Society, came west to lecture at Stanford University before attending the annual meeting of the society this month in Los Angeles.

Surf beats by Marjory Lloyd

LLOYD GRANDSON

Peter Andrews Lloyd was born on August 9 in Children's Hospital, San Francisco. The first child of Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. (Skipper) Lloyd, he weighed eight pounds, four ounces at birth.

Young Peter has three aunts: Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis of Menlo Park, Mrs. John L. Williams of Carmel Valley, and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse III of San Luis Obispo. His cousins are Owen and Lloyd Baylis and Anna Williams.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George C. Rosner of West Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Loyd of Carmel.

At the end of this month, Peter will come to Carmel, "home" to members of the Lloyd family for four generations. His parents and other adult members of the family plan to attend the New York Philharmonic concert on August 31.

SAILING HOME

Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, who teaches French at Carmel Junior High School, is on her way home from a visit with former Carmelites, Dr. and Mrs. Milton Benjamin and their twin sons, Peter and Gregory, in New Jersey. She is a passenger on a freighter sailing from New York to San Francisco via the Panama Canal.

BUCKS END VISIT

Superior Court Judge George Buck, Mrs. Buck and their younger sons, Edward and Thomas, have returned home to Stockton after a month's holiday in Carmel. The Bucks come each year to Carmel where Judge Buck's parents established a summer home over 50 years ago. Mrs. Buck is the niece of Mrs. Carmel Martin, Sr.

BRIEF STAY

Raymond L. Kitchener, administrative head of the department of theatre arts at the University of California in Los Angeles, stopped briefly in Carmel this week on his way to San Francisco after completing summer session duties at UCLA.

Little League

BARNEY LAIOLO
NEW PRESIDENT

Barney Laiolo was elected president of Carmel Little League for the coming year at a meeting of the board of directors last week. He will succeed Orville Jones in the position.

Other new officers elected include Glen Harnish, vice president; Robert Forbes, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Forbes, chairman of the auxiliary.

As for the SECRETARY--this is the first time in the history of Carmel Little League that a mere woman has been chosen for this post! It's none other than Bonnie (Mrs. Ken) Holbrook of Outlook fame.

"I hardly know whether to feel flattered or put upon," says she.

BILLIE SHOWERED

Billie Fritsche, whose wedding to Frank Mayo will take place on August 25 in All Saints' Episcopal Church, has been guest of honor at two bridal showers. Pam Petersen, who will be one of Billie's bridesmaids, and Pam's mother, Mrs. Maynard Petersen, were hostesses at a personal shower and Mrs. John Testa gave a Tupperware party for Billie.

In addition to Pam, Billie's other bridesmaids will be Nicki Wilson, Ginger Laky and Mary Martin. Her younger sister, Dorothy, will be her maid of honor and her youngest sister, Juanette, junior bridesmaid.

Frank has asked former Carmel High School classmates Frank Bucher, Bob Little, Bob Blair and John and Chris Wilkin to be ushers at his wedding.

Billie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fritsche of Carmel Valley. She graduated two years ago from Carmel High School where she was head song-leader and Queen of the Junior-Senior Prom in her senior year.

Frank, the son of Mrs. Freda Mayo of Mission Fields, also graduated from Carmel High in 1961.

IN SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. Fred Farr, who is recuperating from recent illness, is in San Francisco for further treatment. Senator Farr spent last weekend with her after returning from the east, and was back in Carmel this week. Mrs. Farr expects to remain in the city for about two months.

SIERRA VACATION

Mrs. Herbert Vial and her daughter, Suzi, are spending two weeks in the Sierra country, visiting friends and camping.
